SERBIANS WREST VELES BASE FROM BULGARS

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Austria is withdrawing her troops from Albania, according to reports received from well informed sources, the Central News correspondent at Amsterdam wires.

PARIS, Sept. 28.—Allied troops began an attack on the front north of Ypres today and the advance at some points has been more than two and one half miles.

The attack is being made by the Belgian army and is only on the larger part of their front south from the North Sea. One thousand prisoners already have been counted. Heavy fighting is taking place between Dixmude and Ypres and the battle is severe in the Houtholst forest, north of Ypres.

BULGAR STRONGHOLD FALLS.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—The city and fortress of Veles, one of the important bases of the Bulgarian forces, in Southern Serbia, on the Vardar river, has been captured by Serbian troops, the Serbian war office announces in a statement dated Friday. The Serbian forces are pushing on from Veles toward Uskub. The troops defending Veles were taken prisoners.

BRITISH TAKE 10,000 PRISONERS.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Prisoners to the number of 10,000 have been captured by the British in their offensive in the Cambrai area, Field Marshal Haig announced in his official statement today. Two hundred guns were taken by the British forces.

The British have captured Ebinoy and Olzy-le-Verger. The British pressed their attack yesterday without a moment's let up until a late hour in the evening, considerably accentuating their progress in the northern portion of the battlefield.

Canadians pushed through Hayneourt and have reached the Louai-Cambrai road. British forces have begun operating in Flanders in conjunction with the Belgian army. Along the whole battle front before Cambrai the operations were progressing satisfactorily this morning, Field Marshal Haig announced.

BULGARIA OUT OF WAR

SAYS MINISTER HERE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Bulgaria is out of the war in the opinion of Stephen P. Soderstrom, Bulgarian minister here, who believes that his country definitely is determined to abandon its alliance with Germany and Austria and if the Entente allies refuse to listen to peace overtures, will appeal to the United States to use its good offices.

BRITISH RESUME

ANNOUNCES PEACE PLANS.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—An official Bulgarian statement, dated September 24, announces that Bulgaria has initiated a proposition for obtaining an armistice and peace.

FIGHT DESPERATELY TO

HAULT THE YANKEES

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY

NORTHWEST OF VERDUN, Sept. 28.

10:30 A. M.—Thick clouds and mist again hampered the air war detailed for observation today in the area of the operation now in progress. The condition, however, did not prevent entirely operations by the pursuit planes of the American air forces.

With their backs to the outer edge of the Brunhilde line, the Germans today were fighting desperately in an endeavor to bring the American advance to a definite halt. The Germans were increasing the volume of their fire and indicating a new determination to resist to the utmost. The line fought for runs through the northern Argonne woods and eastward along a line paralleling the Epinor-Monsaucon road to a point near Dohy and thence northeasterly. The Germans are massed in the Cierges woods and in the Emont woods.

The Americans are using their artillery freely to break up the enemy disposition. The Germans are depending upon machine gun fire at every advanced point in their effort to check the Americans.

FRENCH KEEP UP

GOOD WORK ALSO.

PARIS, Sept. 28.—In the successful continuation of the offensive east of the Argonne the French have captured the village of Somme-py, and advance of about four miles, says the war office statement today.

NO ARMISTICE, ALLIED REPLY TO BULGARIA

Great Britain Voices Sentiment of Others of the Entente.

READY TO TALK PEACE

But King Ferdinand's Nation Must Cast Loose Completely From Germany and Other Central Powers; Collapse Due to Entry of the U. S.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—A panic prevailed today on the Berlin stock exchange as the result of events in Bulgaria, according to a dispatch from The Hague to the Central News Agency.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Great Britain has replied to the Bulgarian request for an armistice. The reply, it is stated, is fully covered by the answer given by the Bulgarian representatives by the commander of the Allied army on the Macedonia front. By this reply it is perfectly well defined that no military operations can be suspended.

At the same time, regarding the proposal that duly accredited Bulgarian representatives should confer with the Allies on the question of peace, it has been made quite clear to the Sofia government that such a peace necessarily involves a complete rupture by the Bulgarian government with Turkey, Germany and Austria-Hungary.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—The impending collapse of Bulgaria, General March said today, is a direct result of the concentration of the American forces on the Western front. The elimination of Bulgaria, the chief of staff pointed out, should separate peace be granted, would foreshadow the isolation of Turkey and the possible re-entry of Rumania into the war. The effect of these events on the grand strategy of the war was obvious, he said.

In the Franco-American drive the American forces west of Verdun have passed beyond the Hindenburg line and are facing the new Kriemhild line. General March was unable to identify positively American units which participated in this action. On the first day Pershing's men advanced from five to six miles. Official dispatches to date show capture by the Americans in this sector of 8,000 prisoners while the French to the west of them have taken more than 7,000.

HERTLING'S RESIGNATION

TENDERED TO KAISER.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Count von Hertling, the German imperial chancellor, has resigned, according to a message received by the Central News Agency from The Hague. The resignation has not yet been accepted.

ANOTHER CALL FOR NAMES OF BOYS WHO ARE ENTITLED TO PLACE ON HONOR ROLL

Up to last night Rev. E. B. Burgess, chairman of the Honor Roll Committee, had received the names of 701 Connellsville boys and four Red Cross nurses who are entitled to a place on the Honor Roll to be erected by the city. Rev. Burgess is highly gratified with the success achieved in compiling this roll but is convinced that a large number of names have not yet been turned in, particularly the names of soldiers who were born in Italy or are the sons of naturalized Italians. It is also believed that the names of many colored soldiers have not yet been turned in.

The work of typewriting the list is in progress and it is expected to be ready to be forwarded to the roll manufacturers on Monday. Distinguishing it just as complete as possible, Rev. Burgess again appeals to friends of the boys in all branches of the service who have not done so to fill out the attached coupon and mail it to him at once at his home address, 501 Vine street, Connellsville.

BUILDING 300 MORE HOUSES IN SPRING IS MELCROFT PLAN

Work Would Have Been Done This Year Had Labor Been Available.

EVERY ONE IS DIFFERENT

Coal Mining Town in Indian Creek Valley Near Champlain Holds Unique Place Among the Mining Communities in Fayette County Field.

Erection of 300 additional homes at Melcroft, in the Indian Creek valley, just above Indian Head, where a beautiful village has arisen in the course of a few months, is the plan of the Melcroft Coal company for next spring. If labor is available and railroad facilities will permit handling the materials. Like in other parts of the Connellsville region the production of coal is the work in which the people of the embryo town are engaged and to increase the output housing must be provided for the men who engage in the mining of it.

There are 100 houses already erected and every one is occupied by an employee of the coal company. It had been planned to build 400 houses immediately but all the labor necessary for the operation of the mines could not be secured and the erection of the houses is being deferred until spring when it is hoped more men for the mines can be hired.

The mines are now being operated and several cuts of coal are being shipped out daily. The maximum output of the mines has not been nearly attained as yet however. Operation will not be at capacity until more labor has been secured and further progress has been made with the cutting. The coal is being dumped over temporary tipples at the present.

The electric plant at Melcroft, which supplies power for the mining machinery, light for the entire town and all the houses was put into operation about a week ago.

Men for working in the mines are being hired as they can be secured, and houses for them and their families are being erected just as they are needed.

Melcroft is unique among the mining towns of the country in that every home is different from every other home. No two are alike. They are (Continued on Page Two.)

BRINGS WIFE AND 10 CHILDREN ALONG TO PROVE HIS CLAIM

Special to The Courier.
MOUNT PLEASANT, Sept. 28.—When Alex. Zaiden, a local Assyrian merchant, presented himself yesterday before the draft advisory board to have his questionnaire executed he submitted concrete evidence to support his claim for exemption on the ground of dependency. With him were his wife and 10 children. The eldest is 15, the youngest a babe in arms. The mother carried it. Alex did the talking, with an occasional interjection by his spouse. Zaiden runs a small store in Church street.

BLOWING OF WHISTLES AND HORNS AND KINDRED NOISES WILL EMPHASIZE THE FACT

Music in the Streets This Evening Will Herald the Coming of the Campaign; Hundreds of Banners Placed in Business and Residential Sections.

"BUY MORE BONDS" TO BE SLOGAN FOR A WEEK

With the shrieking of whistles, the ringing of bells and the tooting of automobile horns the Fourth Liberty Loan drive in Connellsville will be officially ushered in at 12 o'clock, noon, Monday. At this hour, sharp, the 150 men enlisted in the campaign will assemble at the Masonic Temple for lunch and at the conclusion of this and after final instructions have been given they will start out in quest of the $40,950 the city has been asked to subscribe toward quick and decisive defeat of the Teutonic allies. If all goes well the drive will end on Friday.

The din at Monday noon promises to be deafening. Every automobile driver, whether he is in Dutch Bottom, on the Pinnacle, on the South Side or the West Side, is requested to blow his horn for the space of five minutes. At the same time every engine and other whistle will let loose and bells will be rung, also for the five-minute period. This will be the signal to the people that the drive is formally on and that solicitors may be expected at any time.

The committee in charge of the campaign does not anticipate any delays in securing the full amount of the quota. It is generally accepted, it is believed, that the people are ready. It is not expected there will be any arguments as to whether one should subscribe or not. On the front page of The Courier today appears a table showing what the average citizen should subscribe. Study of it will help.

In Philadelphia the campaigners plan to close the loan in a single day. Business will be laid aside and nothing else will be in the public mind. In Connellsville the time will be longer, but the Fourth Liberty Loan is to be the chief topic.

Judge E. H. Reppert, who administered the obligation to the workers at the high school ball Thursday night, will be on hand at the Masonic Temple to obligate those who were not present. Judge Reppert will stay for the lunch and will have something interesting to say. He always does.

Preliminary to the opening of the drive there will be patriotic music this evening in the downtown streets. A chorus under the direction of John Davis, on motor trucks, will spend several hours in Pittsburg street and Crawford avenue. A rehearsal was held at the Presbyterian church last evening and enough singers appeared to insure the success of this feature.

Announcement was made today that the ladies of the Immaculate Conception church will serve the Monday lunch to the workers. The ladies of the First Baptist church will serve Tuesday, those of the United Presbyterian church on Wednesday, the Methodist Episcopal church on Thursday and the Presbyterian church on Friday.

Officially the Fourth Loan opened last night at midnight. The blowing of whistles this morning at 9 o'clock emphasized the fact that it is on. A number of subscriptions have been received at the banks but they will be considered as having come in after the opening of the concerted drive on Monday.

The honor of making the first subscriptions to the loan very probably belongs to the Italian citizens of this vicinity. For several days past they have been urging in their application to the foreign department of the Young Trust company, just as they did in advance of the opening days of the preceding loans.

A thousand window banners for residences, boosting the loan, have been distributed about town. Large banners are being put in the windows of the business houses for the same purpose. One cannot well pass through the streets without reading numbers of them. Everywhere one turns he is confronted by the smaller signs "Buy More Bonds."

Whig Corner, Stewart township, where T. D. Gardner of Bear Run is the energetic chairman, will open its campaign this evening at a rally in the Whig Corner church. Stanley P. Ashe, W. D. McGinnis, E. C. Higgin, Rev. J. L. Prouditt, E. W. Hayland and Robert L. Werner will be on hand to help along. The same men will be at Ohioyle tomorrow morning to assist Chairman Charles Holt in launching the work there. A rally will be held in one of the churches.

All arrangements have been completed for a whirlwind campaign in the nearby rural territory.

He has been about Uniontown in uniform for several days and is said to have claimed to be a member of an army truck train and that his truck had broken down near the Summit.

AMERICANS ADVANCE 50 MILES IN RUSSIA
ARCHANGEL, Tuesday, Sept. 24.—American troops who are taking part in the operation in virtually all sections on the northern Russian front have captured several villages in recent fighting.
The net result of the fighting, in which the Americans cooperated with the British and Russians in the taking of many more places in the last 10 days along the Dvina, is an advance of more than 50 miles.

PRUSSIAN GUARDS IN YANK PRISONER CAGES
WITH AN AMERICAN CORPS, NORTHWEST OF VERDUN, Friday, Sept. 27.—German prisoners counted to noon today by this corps alone total more than 3,000. One division took more than 1,100 of the total and reports that it still has several hundred more. The prisoners include a large number of Prussian Guards. A majority expressed pleasure that the war has been ended for them.

BULGARS CONTINUE ON RNS BEFORE SERBS.
LONDON, Sept. 28.—Serbian troops continued during the day (Thursday) to press the retreating Bulgarians and scored important gains of ground. The Serbian war office reports under Friday's date Serbian troops have recaptured Batavista, 15 miles north of Jaidib, and have advanced a considerable distance beyond Kochana toward the Bulgarian border.

BUILDING 300 MORE HOUSES IN SPRING IS MELCROFT PLAN

Painted differently insofar as varying shades will permit. It will be the same with the houses that are yet to be erected. Every house erected is equipped with modern conveniences.

The introduction of the electric light, running water and the bath is having its effect among the others of the valley. Running water and a bathroom will be seen in many a mountain home in the near future, it is predicted. There is scarcely a farm, scarcely a mountain home that does not have its spring or small stream of running water where at small expense a reservoir can be constructed for a domestic water supply. On many farms there is ample water, by use of small storage reservoirs, to make possible the installation of water wheels to operate electric plants. Where this is not feasible the gas engine will do the work. For a long time there was talk of the West Penn Power company running a line across the mountains but it never came to anything.

STILL MORE WORKERS

Are Needed to Make Red Cross Surgical Dressings at Headquarters.
Appeal is again made to the ladies of the city to come to the aid of the surgical dressings department of the Connelville branch of the Red Cross in meeting the September allotment. The increasing number of men in the service and the constantly growing list of casualties require that Red Cross supplies of all kinds be furnished in larger quantity than heretofore if the boys over there are to be given that attention every loyal citizen at home wishes they may receive.

The work rooms are open every afternoon and several evenings of each week so as to provide opportunity for all ladies to give at least part of their time to this increasingly necessary work.

NOW SUPERVISOR

C. K. Brooks Ends Long Term as Teacher in Springfield.
After 41 years as a public school teacher, C. K. Brooks of Mill Run, has been honored with the supervising principalship of the schools of his home township, Springfield. He is the first supervisor to be chosen for that district.

The 17 schools of the district are now in session and all is moving along smoothly, said Mr. Brooks, who was in Connelville today consulting with Chairman E. T. Norton relative to the opening of the Fourth Liberty Loan drive in the mountain section.

LOCAL WAR NEWS

RISE OF CHAS. F. MENTZER IN SERVICE HAS BEEN RAPID

Few young men from this section have made more rapid advances since their entry into the military service than Charles F. Mentzer, more familiarly known as "Fred," a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Mentzer, of South Prospect street. After making five attempts to enlist, and being rejected because of defective eyesight, he was eventually accepted in October, 1917, and assigned to the quartermaster's department, coast defense of the Delaware, at Fort Du Pont, Del. In the following October he was successively promoted to corporal and sergeant, and in June of the present year was made first-class sergeant and on September 20 received his commission as second lieutenant. He was immediately assigned to duty as assistant to the sub-depot quartermaster at Camp Dix, Wrightstown, N. J., reporting at that station last Monday.

Prior to his entrance into the service Lieutenant Mentzer was in the real estate and insurance business at Monaca and a member of the local draft board of that district.

LESLIES RECEIVE LETTER FROM MISSING SON

Mr. and Mrs. Z. C. Leslie of Berlin have received a letter from their son, Corporal Ira Leslie of Company C, Somerset, who has been reported missing since July 15. About the same time they received a telegram from the War Department notifying them that their other son, Corporal Earl Leslie, also of Company C, is in a German prison camp. In his letter, dated August 8, Ira, who received a flesh wound in the hip, caused by a shell states he is getting along very well but that he will likely have to remain in the hospital for some time. The last day the writer saw his brother was the day preceding the battle in which Company C was surrounded by the enemy. The father of the Leslie boys is a well known conductor on the Berlin branch of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

ARTHUR GRAHAM HAULING AMMUNITION TO HIS GUNS

Writing to his wife, Mrs. Arthur Graham of this city, Corporal Arthur Graham of the 36th Ammunition Train, now in France, says that he is well and busy hauling ammunition to the big guns. Three letters and two beautiful souvenirs of France were received by Mrs. Graham, the letters being dated August 20, 24 and 27. In part, Arthur says:

"We have been kept very busy these days. I am also going to school, always learning something new. I had a visit from Louis Lancaster, also Henry Cole, and had a good talk with them. We have some lively times listening to the big shells whistling overhead and it surely did seem hard to get used to them at first. We get a paper from home every day and surely enjoy reading the news. Today is pay day, but we have no place to spend our money."

PRACTICALLY ALL CO. C BOYS PRISONERS

A letter written by Sergeant Hobart Kemp to his sister, Miss Lulu Kemp of Latrobe, establishes beyond doubt that nearly all the members of Company C of Somerset, missing in action July 5, last, when supporting French companies in the battle line, were driven back when Company C did not get the order to retreat, are prisoners in German camps.

JAMES SKILES IS GETTING ALONG WELL

James Skiles, a member of Company D, who was wounded in the big drive on the Marne, is in a hospital in Paris and is getting along nicely according to a letter received by his mother, Mrs. Jerome Skiles of Uniontown, formerly of Connelville. Skiles writes that two of his fingers are badly wounded and he has an injury to the hip.

GEORGE MINNIS GASED, BUT IS O. K. AGAIN

Writing to his mother, Mrs. James Minnis, of East Crawford avenue, George Minnis, of the Medical Detachment of the 110th Regiment, stated he had been gassed, but was out of the hospital and on his way to the front again.

ANNA BURNS HAS ARRIVED OVERSEAS

Anthony Burns, of Vanderbilt, has received a card from his daughter, Miss Anna Burns, who enlisted for stenographic work and was ordered for duties overseas. The card was written on August 30 at Gibraltar, and stated "I am well and happy."

SAM RENZI OFF FIRING LINE, DRIVING TRUCK

Sam Renzi, a member of Company D, 110th Regiment, was wounded in action and will not be able to go back on the firing line again, according to a letter written by Renzi to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carmel Renzi of Crawford avenue, West Side. The young soldier writes that he is out of the hospital, is feeling good, but will drive a motor truck instead of going back into battle.

Mr. Renzi seeking information from his son, who was at first reported missing in action on July 30, sent a telegram to the War Department and received the reply that the young soldier was among the missing. He then sent a cablegram to France and later received a letter from the Red Cross stating that Renzi was wounded and in a hospital. A member of the Medical Detachment of the 110th Regiment writing to his father stated that Renzi was unconscious for three days and left the hospital while in that condition, which probably accounts for him being reported as among the missing.

"BILL" STRUBLE CAUGHT BY RIN GAS CLOUD

"Bill" Struble of the Medical Detachment of the 110th Regiment was gassed during the early part of September according to a letter written

"My mother suggested that we get a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and we did. It gave relief at once. Then we bought more, and in about four weeks she was healed." (Signed) Mrs. G. S. Carr, Landenberg, Pa., Nov. 12, 1917.

under the date of September 11 at the Red Cross headquarters, to his mother, Mrs. John Struble of Patterson avenue. He writes: "Just a few lines to let you know that I am well except my eyes. They are getting along good. Got into some gas last week and it burned my eyes, but not very bad."

TWO BOYS SEND GERMAN HELMETS.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Miller of Race street, this morning received a German helmet from their son, Dewey Miller, of the Medical Detachment of the 110th Regiment. Three others, one sent by Edward Sadtzki, also arrived in the same mail.

The Grim Reaper

MRS. SUSAN RITENOUR.
The funeral of Mrs. Susan Ritenour, who died yesterday morning at her home at Rogers Mill, will be held from the home tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock and at 2 o'clock from the Hillview church near Rogers Mill. The deceased was born in Springfield township, June 20th, 1856, and spent virtually all her life there. She was a daughter of George and Elizabeth Grimes Pitt, and was 61 years old. Her husband, Joseph Ritenour, and the following children survive: Mrs. Clarissa P. Woman's Attractiveness

The Power That Moves the World

WOMEN play a most important role in the affairs of the world. It is not only their privilege to represent the highest type of beauty—it is their duty to do so.

Men admire women who are attractive mentally as well as physically. Sweetness and amiability are attractive. Add beauty to these and a woman is irresistible.

The power that moves the world is love born of womanly attractiveness. It has been this way since the world began. So it is today. So it will always be.

How to acquire and retain beautiful features, a fine complexion, how to be chic, to smile entrancingly, to walk or dance gracefully, to appear generally to advantage—all of these are worthy of every woman's sincere attention.

No matter how well hair, teeth and complexion are cared for, a matronly figure spells age every time. No one is deceived. And yet, with intelligent care any type of figure can be made to regain its youthful lines and maintain them even into late life.

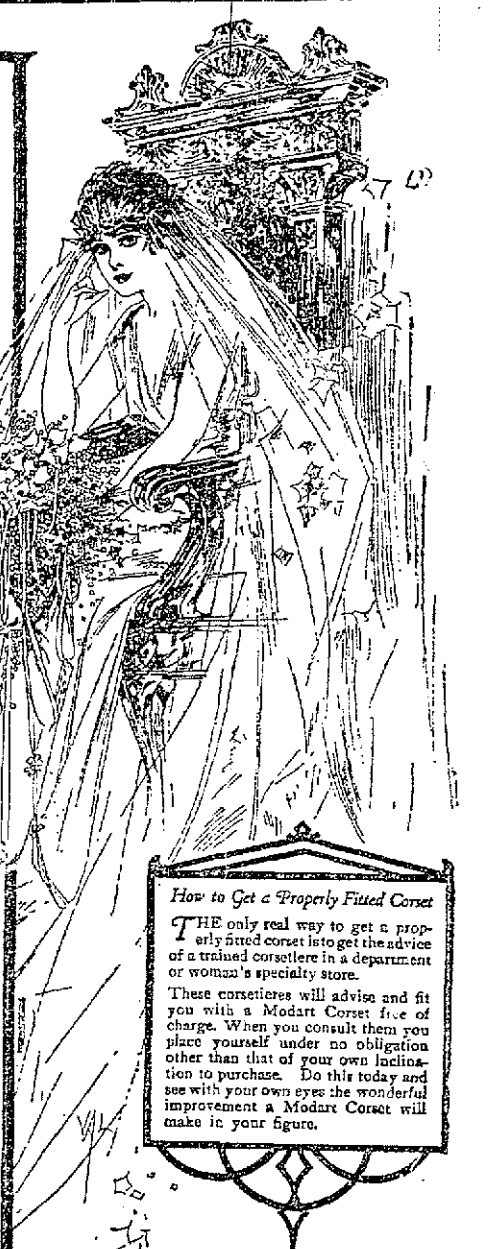

To keep the figure youthful your corset must have youthful lines. This depends upon its designer, for no corset is better than its designer's personal conception of beauty. On his sense of beauty depend the lines and figures of the women who wear the corsets he conceives.

MODART

Front-Laced Corsets

All Modart Corsets are front-laced. They are conceived by the highest paid artist designer in the world. They have ease of adjustment. They are put on and off readily. There are no heavy seams in the back to tug down or suit lines. Instead of the heavy steel used by most makers, a light flexible steel that will not take a permanent bend is used. The finest fabrics are also employed, so that every Modart Corset retains its shape until worn out. Remember that the corset that won't keep its shape, won't keep you. Modarts keep their shape. There is a Modart for every type of figure.

All Modarts are front-laced, but all front-laced corsets are not Modarts. This Modart label is seen in every genuine Modart Corset.

How to Get a Properly Fitted Corset

THE only real way to get a properly fitted corset is to get the advice of a trained corsetier in a department or woman's specialty store.

These corsetiers will advise and fit you with a Modart Corset free of charge. When you consult them you place yourself under no obligation other than that of your own inclination to purchase. Do this today and see with your own eyes the wonderful improvement a Modart Corset will make in your figure.

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

Again the Government comes to the people of the country with the request that they lend their money, and lend it upon a more liberal scale than ever before, in order that the great war for the rights of America and the liberation of the world may be prosecuted with ever increasing vigor to a victorious conclusion. And it makes the appeal with the greatest confidence because it knows that every day it is becoming clearer and clearer to thinking men throughout the nation that the winning of the war is an essential requirement. The money that is held back now will be of little use or value if the war is not won and the selfish masters of Germany are permitted to dictate what America may and may not do. Men in America, besides, have from the first-until now dedicated both their lives and their fortunes to the vindication and maintenance of the great principles and objects for which our Government was set up. They will not fail now to show the world for what their wealth was intended.

PEACE NOT A QUESTION OF
"COMING TO TERMS"

We are all agreed that there can be no peace obtained by any kind of bargain or compromise with the governments of the Central Empires, because we have dealt with them already and have seen them deal with other governments that were parties to this struggle, at Brest-Litovsk and Bucharest.

They have convinced us that they are without honor and do not in-teend justice; they observe no covenants, accept no principle but force and their own interest.

With this clear, unequivocal statement in his New York address last night President Wilson made it clearer, if further clarification were needed, that peace with Germany is not cannot be, a question of "coming to terms," for "we cannot come to terms with them, as they have made that impossible."

It is further notice, too, that the allied nations deny and will continue to deny that Germany has any right to indicate, still less right to dictate the essentials of a peace and least of all does she have the right to name any conditions or terms upon which it shall be concluded.

Further, it is emphatic reaffirmation of the resolute, implacable and unyielding determination of the Allies that there shall be no negotiated peace as a prelude to another attempt by Germany to dominate the world. Instead, and before assent by the allies will be given to discuss a peace, there must first be a frank, candid and genuine acceptance by Germany of the principles, rights, liberties and equities of all free nations for which the allies are contending and for which they will contend with increasing power and might until such acceptance is given.

Germany having become an outlaw among the nations of the earth, she can demand and will be accorded no rights, privileges or immunities until she has paid the penalty for her boundless sins and is also repentantly willing to pay the price of such a peace as the allies may dictate to her.

ON TO BERLIN; GET THE KAIS-

ER; THEN PEACE!

No use to call "Halt!" "Halt!" today. The line's busy, very busy to be exact.

Unconditional surrender is the quickest and surest way to the Bur-garians to secure an armistice.

Citizens, be on Your Guard!

By Harold Mac Grath.

Watch out! Be on your guard, Americans! Presently the German government will step forward, washing its Judas hands and smirking condescendingly.

"Come, let us patch up our differences. Why go on with this murder, when a little quiet talk may settle it? Why, we will give up Belgium, Northern France, even Alsace and Lorraine. We won't talk about indemnities. And who the devil cares for Russia?

Americans, watch your step. Fathers, mothers, sisters, wives, mind your eye. Here comes the deadliest menace of all.

For there will be thousands of well-meaning men and women—kindly well-meaning people who will never learn anything, who were born wobble-kneed and weak in the fear-dut—who will throw up their hands and wail: "Oh, my friends, let us be merciful!

Let us stop this horrid war before all youth is wiped out.

Let us forgive! In Christ's name, let us forgive!"

Americans in the name of Christ stand firm! For if this isn't a war for Christianity there never was one, Germany's God is not ours. Germany has wanted the fact.

No mercy until the Hun—all of them from the Kaiser down—is beaten, beaten, beaten to his knees, made to understand the white man's horror of what his war-lust has spewed forth upon an innocent world.

Remember the Lusitania!

Remember the priests and the nuns!

Remember the wives and daughters, the little children!

Remember our hospitals!

Remember the poisoned wells!

Remember the crucifixions of our soldiers!

Remember the blood that cries up from French soil!

Vengeance! As an American citizen I demand it of my Government. A white man's vengeance; retribution; restitution. I demand it in the name of my brothers—my common brothers who have died in France, who are dying this moment, for those who will die tomorrow!

We shall talk of mercy and forgiveness only when we have finished the job we have started out to do!

So take care, pacifists! We true Americans are in no gentle mind. We have no desire for the incursion of white-livered, vulgar-kneed emotionalists into the field we have so recently chosen for ourselves. We did choose it. And by the same token we shall finish it. Germany wanted WAR. By the living God, she is going to get it, a blurring cup of it. When we have forced the draught down her bloody pirate's throat, we'll talk peace and mercy and forgiveness.

But all pacifists are warned to keep clear of our road until then!

usual in the Kaiser's breakfast serials

At the Theatres

THE PARAMOUNT.

WHEN A WOMAN SINS. A tremendous drama of a modern day to day with Theatricals. The character of a woman in the leading role is being shown. When a woman sins, she is what is probably the most powerful story of love and the impact of love of son and it burns in the heart of the world. A life of the abandoned souls of Broadway, the fight of a modern Magdalen against the flowing wall of society, by the pool and the streets. The story centers around a happy nurse who is a woman of love. The wild impulses in her blood and becomes a dancer and a notorious woman. After her first love she is with them until she meets a young divine student. Upon his first flared character her attentions are of no avail. In the end she is with the life she is leading she is about to commit suicide when he finds her a message of forgiveness in a bunch of lilies. In the production Mrs. Packer gives a performance of telling power and poignant appeal. A beautiful cynical impulsion, which is then swept by the tide of divine love. This dramatic creation of the film will challenge the dimension of all who see her. The picture has been staged in its lavish hand and it appoints its cast is particularly noteworthy for its strength and the balance. The picture has also been shown Monday the 10th of July. A very fine feature of the unit will not be the story.

THE ORPHEUM

FIVE BLUE BIRD. In the variety picture box of display at the Orpheum theatre, a supernatural effect is produced. The largest attraction on the stage is a woman who represents a graveyard which turns into a beautiful flower garden in order to produce this scene various novel mechanical devices were used. The Famous Payers Lasky studio in New York where they set occupied the entire mammoth stage. It took two weeks day and night to build.

BRIDE & BATTLE

A Romance of the AMERICAN ARMY
Fighting on the Battlefields of FRANCE

By VICTOR ROUSSEAU

"Nor she me—like this," answered Mark humbly. But the Colonel's wife missed the allusion.

"She has been crazy to see you," Mrs. Howard continued. "She gave the Colonel no rest after he told us that he was trying to get you for the war office. I believe she had always had a sort of romantic recollection of you, and looked upon you as a sort of guardian, although, of course, it was a fortunate thing for her and us—and you, too—that Colonel Howard did succeed in inducing you to let us take her. She has been everything to us."

"Of course," said Mark mechanically. "It would have been a terrible life for her out in the desert," sighed Mrs. Howard. "I think that you were very wise, Captain Wallace. And what a dreadful burden and responsibility you would have had!"

This time Mark did not attempt to answer.

"She has been a daughter to both of us," pursued his hostess. "And now I'm afraid—we're both afraid, Captain Wallace, that we cannot hope to have her for long. She was quite the rage in New York last season."

Wallace followed the girl with his eyes. She had just been dancing with a young officer; it had been a two-step, and as the band of three pieces broke into the wildest and merriest part of the piece he saw her, with flushed face and laughing eyes, accept Kellerman's arm and surrender herself to the dance.

Kellerman caught Mark's eyes across the room. He looked straight back with a meaning challenge which was unmistakable. Mark knew at that moment that his antipathy to Kellerman had returned, although he was inclined to believe the other was not aware it had ever existed.

"Now I Know You Are My Real Uncle Mark"

Kellerman was a splendid figure, even in his civilian evening clothes. Fully six feet tall, with the chest and limbs of an athlete, florid, with crisp black hair and a sense of the possession of power, he looked at least five years Mark's junior, though they had been born in the same year. "Handsome Kellerman" had been his sobriquet in Cuba. Mark remembered it across the lapse of years, and into his mind there began to filter, too, stray stories about him.

Mark did not judge him by these, but by the intention which sent a cold wave to his heart as he saw him with Eleanor. It seemed to him that Kellerman's look, as he turned to the girl, was one of intentional conquest—in another man it might have been called infatuation; and the girl knew it and was happy in it.

The bitterness of that moment was like a sword thrust. Had he come three thousand miles for this? But what had been his thoughts for Eleanor, his vague wishes as to her future?

He did not know. He had dreamed—dreamed of her, and never pictured her as she was.

There was an informal, stand-up supper about eleven. Eleanor came to Mark and asked him to take her to the buffet. Mark was conscious of a coldness, or hurt resentment in the girl's manner, as if he had neglected her.

He brought her a plate and sat beside her in an alcove. They were alone, measurably, for the first time that evening.

"Uncle Mark, you are disappointing me," said Eleanor.

"I know it, and I'm sorry for it," said Mark. "I suppose it's because I am not a bit like what you expected me to be."

"You are not the least bit like what I expected, or remembered, Captain Mark," she answered.

In his jealousy he was conscious of altered prefix. And, as Eleanor looked at him with her eyes she broke off to smile at a young officer across the room, who returned an ardent gaze across the publican's shoulders of a very honest, but most important dame whom he was helping to champagne.

"Most of an experience disappointment in people whom we have idealized," said Mark lamely.

"You mean—Oh, I'm sure I think you, Captain Wallace," answered the girl acidly. "Shall we go back?"

But Mark had a moment of inspiration. "Before we go, Eleanor," he said, "don't you think we might get to understand each other a little? I suppose I have been rude—but, you see, I have been conscious of your disappointment all the evening, and—"

He stopped in bewilderment, for Eleanor was laughing.

"But I seem at least to have the faculty of amusing you," he continued. "Dear Uncle Mark," said Eleanor, laughing with tears in her eyes. She laid her hand on his shoulder. "Now I know you are my real Uncle Mark after all," she said.

"Why?" he asked, in astonishment.

"That's just like you, Uncle Mark. It's you—it's the real 'you' I've always remembered."

"You seem to remember my character very well, Eleanor," said Mark, trying not to relent, and having an uncomfortable feeling that she was an adept at hoodwinking.

"Well, you know, you paid me a fairly long visit at the Misses Harpers' school, Uncle Mark."

"You were nothing but a schoolgirl then."

"Schoolgirls can judge character as well as grown-ups."

"And so you think you know me, and—and you're not altogether disappointed?" asked Mark, smiling at last.

"I'm not disappointed in you at all, if you aren't in me. Dear Uncle Mark, people don't really change—never! Only they learn to adapt themselves to their environments. You are just the same as ever—just the quiet, sensitive, chivalrous Uncle Mark I've always dreamed of."

"Well," said Mark, "I see that there are hopes that I shall regain the little ward whom I've always thought about. And, of course, I ought to have reflected that your environment has been very different from the one I could have given you."

"I wish I'd been with you, Uncle Mark," she answered impulsively. "Why didn't you keep me when you had your chance, if you wanted me? Oh, dear Uncle Mark, that was so like you, too—giving up to others. And you never sent me that photograph!"

"I've never had one taken since, Eleanor."

"But I've got you yourself now," said the girl. "So you mustn't give me up any more, no matter who seems to have a better claim on me. Will you promise me that?"

Mark knew now for certain that he had found his own. "I promise," he answered.

"Because, you know, I've been very happy with Colonel and Mrs. Howard. But this isn't the best and biggest part of me that you see here. If I could have had my way I'd rather have been living a more useful life somewhere—somewhere where I hadn't quite so many things that I want. Colonel Howard gives me everything he thinks I want. But—you see, Uncle Mark, something is missing. You remember what we talked over—about my being the regimental mascot?"

Mark nodded, watching her face closely.

"Well, all that's over and gone. There's not a regiment now, anyway. All the old people have gone out of it. And we were three years in San Francisco, you know. And—Oh, Uncle Mark, I wish we could have those days again, when I used to dream about my father and—"

"I know, my dear," said Mark. "I've always secretly hoped that I should know, some day. But I've almost stopped hoping, except for one thing that I've never told anybody. You remember what I said to you about a man watching me?"

"He doesn't watch you now, Eleanor!"

She nodded. "He has come back," she answered. "He's older and grayer, but he's the same man. I've seen him here, in Washington. And I've never dared to speak of it, even to Colonel Howard, but I know it's not a delusion, Uncle Mark."

"And you think he has some connection with your father, Eleanor?" asked Mark.

"I don't know what to think. What do you think, Uncle Mark?" asked the girl.

"I think, my dear," said Mark deliberately, "that it isn't the same man. It stands to reason it can't be. Why should he have watched you all these years and never spoken to you? No, Eleanor, I think you've had this idea so long that you have misinterpreted it."

"I mean—"

"I know what you mean, Uncle Mark. Well, it doesn't matter. And now I must go back to Mrs. Howard or they will be wondering what has become of me. But we've picked up our memories, haven't we? And I'll see a lot of you, Uncle Mark, before you go to the war?"

CHAPTER VI.

But Mark refused Colonel Howard's invitation to become his guest, and avoided the house in Massachusetts circle as much as he could with decency. He was courteous enough to analyze his reasons and he did not conceal the result from himself.

He wanted Eleanor with all the pent-up longing of his dulled years in the desert. His love was the strongest passion that he had ever felt, and yet, strangely for a man of his years, it had in it much more of the paternal element than of the lover. All his life he had been almost kinless, his only sister was dead, he wanted Eleanor's presence, Eleanor with him, to see her every day, whether as wife or daughter. Yet he was brave enough to acknowledge that this love, selfish in a measure, threatened to become a consuming passion if he did not hold himself rigidly in check.

He, the middle-aged captain, and Eleanor, with her station, her prospects and her beauty—it was an impossible dream, or one that would ruin the girl's life if, in some wild moment, she made it truth.

He had his reward to Eleanor's increasing restraint, her quite visible indignation. They had fallen apart again, after that single meeting. It was a near reward, but the sort that Mark had received all his life from fortune.

But there were lonely nights when life seemed unbearable, and he had to exert all his will power to keep himself in check. Mark had rented a little furnished apartment in the Northwest section, off Pennsylvania avenue, and he had found the desert more companionable.

One night he felt at the end of his powers. That was after a grilling day in the war office, one of those days that sometimes come in Washington toward the middle of September, when everything is as sticky as the asphalt sidewalks.

It had been a day of evil portent besides. Colonel Howard, who had seemed of late to reflect Eleanor's coolness in some measure, had greeted him with a wry face when he came in.

"The devil's to pay, Mark," he said. "Draw up your chair. There's a leakage in the department."

"What?" cried Mark.

"Things are getting known—for instance, our dealing with the shipping people. They've found the exact number of ships we've requisitioned. You know whom I mean by 'they.'"

Mark nodded. The cosmopolitan influences in Washington, whose ramifications extended to the ends of the earth, or, at least, across the Atlantic, were busy in every drawing room extracting news, the tiniest and least reliable of which was not despised, since many such single items make up a coherent story.

"The Brigadier's wild about it," continued the Colonel, pulling at his mustache. "And it seems impossible to detect how the leakage occurred. It must have been through the shipping companies, of course; yet they couldn't have placed the thing together without concerted action, which is out of the question. Let's go through the papers."

They opened the safe and went through them one by one, but nothing was missing.

"Damn it!" growled Colonel Howard. "I've been through this before, Mark—you know that. In that case there was a traitor at work. We found him. In this case there can be none at least, in the war department. And I've told the Brigadier I'll answer with my place for discovering where the leak lies."

He closed the safe and strode off into Kellerman's room, to return with Kellerman, looking angrier than before.

"What are we going to do, Kellerman?" he asked.

Kellerman pursed out his lips. "Well, Colonel, you know as much about it as any of us," he answered. "There's always been two of us present night and

NEW YORK HOTELS CUT RATES FOR OFFICERS.

More than sixty of New York's largest hotels have agreed to house officers of the Army and Navy at reduced rates. When it was reported to the War Camp Community Service that officers on leave in the city were having difficulty in obtaining accommodations at reasonable rates the organization began a search for a way out. The result that the hotels now in line will give a fifty per cent. reduction on one per cent. of their room capacity from Monday to Friday, inclusive, and on Saturday and Sunday will allow the same reduction on two per cent. of the capacity. This arrangement provides two hundred and fifty rooms for the five days and five hundred for Saturdays and Sundays.

In addition to this the New York War Camp Community Service has more than two thousand beds available for enlisted men, the usual rates being twenty-five cents for a bed and bath, with an added charge of from ten to thirty cents for breakfast.

And There Is "Yes," Too.

SCOTSDALE PUT ON METER BASIS FOR ITS WATER SUPPLY

Storm of Protest is Aroused Over Proposed Rental for Meters.

WATER RATE IS SATISFACTORY

Members of Water Committee of Council are informed that action must be taken or an indignation meeting of the public will be called.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTSDALE, Sept. 28.—The Scottdale Water company yesterday served notice on patrons of the discontinuance after November 1 of the flat rate for service and the inauguration of meter service. No objection was found to the metered rate for water but before the day was over indignant citizens waited on members of the Water committee of council with a demand that immediate action be taken against the proposal of the water company to charge an additional rental for meters. Members of the committee were told that if there be no action by council an indignation meeting of the citizens would be called to protest against the rental schedule.

The new schedule provides for a charge of 27 cents per thousand gallons for the first 75,000 gallons. It then jumps to the large consumers, the rates for which are 20 cents per thousand gallons for the next 675,000 gallons and 12 cents per thousand for the next 750,000 gallons and above that quantity.

What roused the ire of consumers was the following schedule of rentals for meters:

Meter five-eighths of an inch in diameter, $2 per quarter or $8 per year; 3/4-inch, $2.75 per quarter; 1-inch, $3; 1 1/4-inch, $11.50; 2-inch, $20.50; 2 1/2-inch, $46; 4-inch, $82; 6-inch, $184. These charges are in addition to the charge for metered water.

Rates for water at present are 60 cents per quarter for spigots and $4.13 per quarter for bath-rooms.

The complaint lodged with the Water committee is that no rental charges are made for gas and electric meters and that none should be made for water. No fault is found with the metered charge for water. At the last meeting of council complaint was made concerning the water and permission was asked to sink a well in the borough. There was some typhoid fever and persons became alarmed. To offset this the Scottdale Ice company began distributing distilled water in five gallon bottles for the homes and electric batteries.

AMERICANS DOING A GREATER WORK THAN HOME FOLKS THINK

Stephen Fabian Tells of Fortitude of the Men of the U. S. A. When Severely Wounded.

"The Americans are doing a great work here, much greater than the people at home realize," is the opinion of Cornelius Fabian, of Conneltsville, member of the Military Specialist company, writing from Saint Aignan, France, to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Fabian, of Conneltsville. "I have seen men who have been wounded two or three times all over and they don't seem to mind it at all. We have many German prisoners. They use them for all sorts of work. They are mostly boys. We do little drilling, but are employed all the time—building barracks, mixing concrete or at some other work. There are men here from every state in the Union. I have met four men who followed my trade—printer. The other day I was a K. P. (kitchen police) and as we were peeling potatoes we found that the 13 men present represented 10 states." The letter was dated September 8.

A letter under date of September 4 to Fabian's sister, Miss Ida, tells of his being transferred from the 34th Provisional company of the July Replacement Draft to the Military Specialist Company. He writes interest-

The people of Lower Tyrone township, Perry township, Washington township, Franklin township, Fayette City and Belvedere have had no representation for years and years and it is only fair that we line up and support their candidate Mr. J. Buell Snyder of Perryopolis, former principal of the High School and now a director and successful business man. Election November 5th.
